

National Grid's Energy Code Technical Support provides Rhode Island code officials, builders, subcontractors, and design professionals with free building energy code compliance training, technical support, and documentation materials. Please visit www.ngrid.com/rienergycode for a calendar of trainings and details on technical support, both over the phone and in-person, or call the program toll free at 1-855-343-0105.

As with all National Grid's residential and commercial energy efficiency offerings and services, this program is funded by the Energy Efficiency Charge paid by all ratepayers in accordance with Rhode Island Law.
